

Sandakphu–Phalut Trek 2026

The iconic Himalayan trek that gives you panoramic views of Everest, Lhotse, Makalu & Kanchenjunga — all in one frame. A journey through ridges, forests, clouds, and the Indo–Nepal border.

14 – 20 February 2026

Organized by Oh–Bhaisahab Experiences

Welcome to the Sandakphu–Phalut Trek

This trek is one of India's finest ridge walks — known for its breathtaking mountain views, cozy teahouses, and rich Indo–Nepal cultural blend. As you ascend to 11,930 feet through the legendary Singalila range, you'll find yourself walking the line between two nations, suspended between earth and sky.

Organized by OBS (Oh-Bhaisahab Experiences), this journey takes you far beyond ordinary trekking. It's a carefully curated journey that blends adventure, fitness, reflection, and human connection with Signature OBS Activities like ♥ Happiness Sharing – A heartfelt circle where stories flow, walls fall, and strangers become a tribe.

😊 Meditation & Journaling – A quiet inner journey where you pause, breathe, reflect, and reconnect with yourself amidst the serenity of nature.

🏔️ Alpine Olympics – A playful battle of balance, strength, and laughter where the wild becomes your arena.

Why Sandakphu–Phalut?

Some treks test your limits. Some show you beautiful views. But only a handful of treks in the world deliver an experience so profound that every traveler who completes it carries the memory like a treasure. Sandakphu–Phalut is one of those rare journeys.

Four Giants in One Frame

Stand in one spot and see Everest, Lhotse, Makalu & Kanchenjunga — a view reserved for only a few places on Earth

Walk Two Countries

Trek along the Nepal–India border, where your left foot lands in one nation and your right in another.

The Sleeping Buddha

Witness the legendary Kanchenjunga range formation that resembles a reclining Buddha at dawn.

Singalila National Park

Trek through protected forests home to red pandas, Himalayan black bears, and countless bird species.

Sunrise Above Clouds

Wake up above the cloud line and watch the sun illuminate the highest peaks on the planet.

Beginner-Friendly Magic

Experience world-class Himalayan views without extreme technical difficulty — perfect for your first high-altitude adventure.

For photography lovers, this trek is paradise. Every turn offers a new composition: prayer flags against blue sky, yaks grazing on ridges, clouds rolling through valleys like rivers. This is the trek where your camera memory card fills up fast and your heart fills up faster.

Your Complete Day-by-Day Journey

Every great adventure unfolds one day at a time. Here's your detailed itinerary — designed to balance challenge with wonder, exertion with rest, and altitude gain with acclimatization. Each day brings new landscapes, new friends, and new reasons to feel grateful you chose this path.

Day 1 — February 14, 2026

Arrival at NJP/Bagdogra → Drive to Sepi

Your Himalayan adventure begins the moment you arrive. After meeting your fellow trekkers and team at NJP or Bagdogra, we drive through winding mountain roads to Sepi (6–7 hours). Watch the landscape transform from plains to foothills, tea gardens to forests. By evening, you'll settle into a cozy homestay, share introductions over dinner, and feel the excitement build.

Day 2 — February 15, 2026

Sepi → Samanden

The first real day of trekking! Start from Sepi and trek through charming villages where children wave and locals greet you with smiles. The trail gradually ascends through forests and farmland until you reach Samanden, a peaceful meadow village. Tonight you'll experience your first teahouse stay — simple, warm, and utterly authentic.

Distance: ~14 km | Time: 7–8 hours

Day 3 — February 16, 2026

Samanden → Molley

Enter Singalila National Park today as you trek steadily upward. The forest deepens, the air grows crisper, and suddenly — there it is — your first clear view of Kanchenjunga. The sight stops you in your tracks. By evening, you'll reach Molley and stay in a GTA hut, tired but thrilled by what you've witnessed.

Distance: ~10 km | Time: 7 hours

Day 4 — February 17, 2026

Molley → Phalut → Sabargam

The longest and most spectacular day. You'll walk the stunning ridge to Phalut, the highest point of the day at 11,810 feet. Mountains surround you in every direction. After lunch at Phalut, descend to Sabargam for the night. This is the day your legs will remember, and your heart will never forget.

Distance: ~17.5 km | Time: 8–9 hours

Your Complete Day-by-Day Journey

Every great adventure unfolds one day at a time. Here's your detailed itinerary — designed to balance challenge with wonder, exertion with rest, and altitude gain with acclimatization. Each day brings new landscapes, new friends, and new reasons to feel grateful you chose this path.

Day 5 — February 18, 2026

Sabargam → Aal

A gentler day along the ridge with Himalayan views accompanying every step. The walking is easier today, giving you time to absorb where you are and what you're accomplishing. Overnight in Aal, where the stars seem close enough to touch.

Distance: ~13 km | Time: 7–8 hours

Day 6 — February 19, 2026

Aal → Sandakphu → Gurdum

Wake before dawn for the early ascent to Sandakphu, the highest point of the entire trek at 11,930 feet. Stand on the summit as sunrise paints Everest, Lhotse, Makalu, and Kanchenjunga in shades of pink and gold. It's a moment that justifies every uphill step. Afterward, descend through forests to Gurdum for your final night in the mountains.

Distance: ~10 km | Time: 7 hours

Day 7 — February 20, 2026

Gurdum → Sepi → NJP/Bagdogra

A short morning walk to Sepi, followed by the drive back to NJP or Bagdogra (6–7 hours). As the mountains recede in the rearview mirror, you'll carry something new inside you — confidence, memories, and a deep connection to the Himalayas.

Distance: ~4 km walk | Drive: 6–7 hours

More Than Trekking: The OBS Experience

At Oh-Bhaisahab Experiences, we believe a trek should challenge your body, expand your mind, and connect you with others. That's why we've woven special activities throughout the journey — moments designed to build friendships, spark reflection, and create stories you'll tell for years.

Happiness Sharing

A heartfelt circle where stories flow, walls fall, and strangers become a tribe.

Meditation & Journaling

A quiet inner journey where you pause, breathe, reflect, and reconnect with yourself amidst the serenity of nature.

Reflection Circles

Guided conversations where the group shares experiences, insights, and personal growth moments.

Leadership & Team Tasks

Activities that build confidence, communication, and collaborative problem-solving skills.

These activities happen organically throughout the trek — never forced, always meaningful. They transform a good trek into an unforgettable experience, and individual hikers into a tight-knit community.

Essential Gear Checklist

Proper gear makes the difference between discomfort and joy in the mountains. You don't need the fanciest equipment, but you do need the right equipment. Here's your complete packing list — organized, practical, and tested by hundreds of trekkers before you.

Bags & Carriers

- 50–60L Trek Backpack — Your main bag for the journey
- Rain Cover — For your backpack, essential protection
- Waterproof Poncho — Keep yourself dry in rain or snow

Clothing Layers

- Thermal Base Layers — Top and bottom, for cold nights
- Fleece Jacket — Mid-layer warmth
- Padded/Down Jacket — Your warmest layer for summit mornings
- 2 Trek Pants — Quick-dry and comfortable
- 3–4 Dry-Fit Shirts — Moisture-wicking fabric
- Woolen Gloves — Keep hands warm at altitude
- Warm Cap — Heat escapes from your head
- Neck Warmer/Balaclava — Protection from wind

Footwear & Support

- Waterproof Trek Shoes — Well broken-in, with good ankle support
- Trek Pole — Reduces knee strain significantly

Essentials & Accessories

- Toiletries — Toothbrush, paste, sunscreen (SPF 50+), lip balm
- Power Bank — 10,000+ mAh capacity recommended
- Headlamp — With extra batteries for early morning starts
- 1L Water Bottle — Hydration is critical at altitude
- Personal Medical Kit — Any prescription medications, band-aids, pain relievers
- Sunglasses — UV protection for snow glare
- Small Towel — Quick-dry microfiber works best

📌 Pro Tip: Pack in layers inside your backpack. Keep rain gear, snacks, and your water bottle easily accessible. Store items you won't need until camp at the bottom.

Fitness Preparation & Safety

Conquering Sandakphu-Phalut isn't about elite athleticism; it's about smart preparation. This trek demands stamina and resilience, not just speed. Train your body wisely, embrace the challenge, and the mountains will reward you with an unforgettable journey.

Essential Fitness Benchmarks

Walking Endurance

Aim to run 5km in 35 minutes. If jogging isn't an option, brisk-walk 10km in 90-100 minutes. Utilize fitness tracking apps like Strava or Nike Run Club to monitor your progress.

Sustained Cardio Capacity

You should comfortably sustain moderate physical activity, such as a long walk or light jog, for 1.5-2 hours without excessive fatigue.

Confident Hill Navigation

Build confidence and ability in navigating varied terrain, including sustained uphill climbs and downhill descents. Incorporate regular hill training to prepare your body effectively.

What to Expect & Know Before You Go

The Beautiful Reality

- Ridge walks with clouds drifting below
- Cozy teahouse stays with warm meals
- Winter landscapes and mountain vistas
- Friendships forged on the trail

The Honest Truth

- Early mornings and steep climbs
- Basic teahouse accommodations
- Weather can be unpredictable
- Physical exertion is real

"The mountains don't care about your excuses. But they reward your effort with views that last a lifetime." — Every trekker who made it to Sandakphu

Ready to Begin Your Adventure?

The Sandakphu–Phalut trek isn't just about reaching a destination. It's about discovering what you're capable of when you step outside your comfort zone. It's about standing on a ridge at 11,930 feet, looking at four of the world's tallest mountains, and realizing that you walked here on your own two feet. It's about the friendships formed over hot tea in mountain teahouses, the sunrises that take your breath away, and the moment you return home knowing you're different than when you left.

This February, the mountains are calling. Limited slots are available for this winter departure — a season when the views are clearest, the trails are quieter, and the experience is most magical.
